Association of Central Kentucky

Support • Educate • Celebrate

Dear Parent,

Your child took part in a Down syndrome awareness presentation today. We visited with your child and invited them to participate in some hands-on activities to help them better understand what it means to be a good friend to All people, including those with disabilities such as Down syndrome.

Children with Down syndrome are now included in mainstream classrooms, scout troops, sports and social activities. They are achieving great academic and social success. It is only through supportive environments that these individuals will meet with success beyond the school setting. Parents of children with Down syndrome have the same expectations for their child as you do. They hope their child will learn to the best of his/her ability, make lasting friendships, and be a contributing member of the classroom and society. Peer role models in a variety of setting can be a wonderful influence on children with Down syndrome.

The Down Syndrome Association of Central Kentucky seeks to educate the community to breakdown stereotypes, to provide positive images of individuals with Down syndrome, and to support families in achieving success. DSACK celebrates that ALL people are beautiful, capable, and loved! If you have any questions about the presentation, please feel free to contact DSACK at 859-494-7809 or dsack.org@gmail.com. You can also visit our website at www.dsack.org to learn more about Down syndrome and the programs/services DSACK provides.

Sincerely,

Traci Brewer
